QUINCY HIGH SCHOOL CLASS OF 2011

New Beginnings

The Goldenrod Volume 78

It's about time! These past four years, we students have endured less than favorable conditions. We've had to deal with the bridge, falling ceilings, Coddington, and no heat during the winter. However, we finally did it, and now we are in the brand new Quincy High School. This high school holds high expectations for both students and the staff. We know that our old school held many memories but, the memories that we made within the new school will remain with us forever as well. It's not an ending, it's a new beginning!

Even though it was raining and cold, JUNIOR PROM was the best! The Tirrell Room in Quincy was filled with Juniors who were all dressed wonderfully for the occasion. The boys donned tuxes and sunglasses, while the girls wore stunning, elegant dresses. They went to great lengths to get their hair, makeup, and nails done perfectly. Dinner consisted of a variety of hearty meals, topped off at the end with a delectable ice cream dessert. The open soda bar provided non-alcoholic drinks all night long--all for no cost! The highlight of the night, of course, was the nonstop dancing to artists such as Lady Gaga, Lil' Wayne, Beyonce, and others. Despite the terrible weather, we all had the time of our lives!

Cross Country

The cross-country team had a great season with some good moments and some not so good. The top team in the leauge was Whitman-Hanson, which defeated both our boys and girls teams. The top highlight of the leauge was the meet against Randolph high. The Q/NQ boys had John Green (NQ), Dan Green (NQ), Danny Tran (NQ), Danny Higgins (Q), Greg Nelson (NQ), Josh Kasanoff (Q), Aiden McMorrow (Q), and Brendan Cunningham (Q) come in the top 10 places which meant an automatic win. For the girls team the top finishers were Erica Brady (NQ), Lia Benoli (NQ), and Kelsey Fischer (Q). Everyone on the team put in a great effort, and it was a great season.

Josh Kasanoff-"Overall we had a great year and we did good. We had some tough losses and some great ins. During a meet against Randolph we were the top 7 runners place before any of their runners"

Girls Soccer

The best thing to see in soccer is when unique individuals come together to play a cherrished game. Through the long, sweaty, and sunny hours put in, us girls became life long friends. This friendship stuck through the season, not one night past where two girls weren't hanging out. The friendship spanned onto the field, by the end of the season we each knew where one another was going to be before we looked to pass the ball. The saying "Leave it all on the field" was often said and noted by all. Arguments on the field ment nothing in practice the next day, we only looked on how to fix the problem. We happily pushed through the controversies that came our way. The motivation Varsity and JV got from each other and the coaches helped us play soccer at our best everyday. The bus rides to and from our away games were a big part of that motivation. The songs we sung and laughs we had will stay in our hearts forever.

Boys Soccer

"At the beginning of the season I asked the players for total commitment to the team and 100% effort at all times.

The players gave me that and then some.

Results were hard to come by, but we made other teams work hard for everything they got.

Bottom line we improved on the season before and I could not ask for more than what the players gave me."

Girls Volleyball

This year the volleyball team lost a lot of seniors but gained a lot of new players. "The team was welcoming to the new players like myself" says sophmore Amelia Wool. This years team has a real sense of community and family, they taught team work and perserveance.

The Captains

This years captains, Kori Sorensen, Stella Edwards, and Nicole Parry are really pleased with the team. They've had amazing wins this year and countless great times in practice, on the floor and on the long bus rides.

SPIRIT WEEK

Spirit Week lasted from Tuesday, November 16th until the Rally on Wednesday, November 24th. Sure, it spread into two weeks, but that didn't stop it from being awesome. The first day was Wild, Wild West Day. Students and teachers alike got decked out in their best cowboy and bandit gear. Wednesday had the debut of Cancer Awareness Day, and the participation was widespread. Thursday was Fashion Disaster Day, and no one hesitated to embarrass themselves by wearing their most mismatching clothes. Friday was Twin Day, and those who participated held nothing back. After the weekend, Monday was New England Sports Day, where people showed their support for their favorite teams. Tuesday was Color Wars, which resulted in a great show of support from all classes, as seen on the right of this page. Wednesday wrapped everything up with Blue and White Day, accompanied by the annual Rally. Unfortunately, due to a miscalculation in the score, the Juniors prevailed over the Seniors. It was a disappointing day for Seniors, but it didn't stop us from being the ones who get to leave in May and rub it in everyone's face. ;)

"The rally this year was intense. I saw every class participating in spirit week, and they were very competitive. I had a fun time representing not just the senior class, but all of the classes. I hope that this will keep going on as I leave my post as the blue guy. One word to describe this year's school spirit would be EPICAL!"

But for everybody, it's a night to remember!

RALLY!

Excitement, fun, and energy was all in the brand new gym. Seniors, Juniors, Sophomores and Freshman decked out their areas with decorations all their own. The Quincy High band performed a few songs, choir sang the National Anthem, and our own Steven Chung sang a solo of "America the Beautiful". Seniors Jaimie Shaughnessy and Asha Waterhouse led the rally and announced the events.

MR. Swanson kissing the fish!

Some of the activities were "Kiss the Fish", where Mr. Bretsch had to kiss the squid for receiving the least amount of votes, and Mr. Swanson kissed the fish for receiving the most. Wheelbarrow races, tug-o-war, and cheerleader routines were also performed.

At the end of the rally, there was a small powder puff game first between the Sophomores and Juniors, then the Juniors against the Seniors. Much to our disappointment, the Seniors lost but didn't give up hope. Everyone really showed their school spirit and were proud to be Presidents.

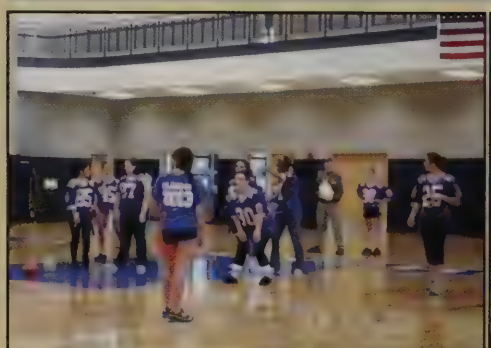
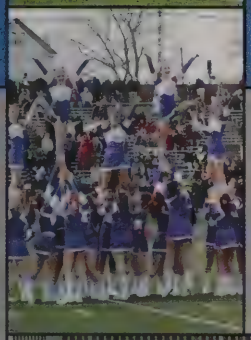
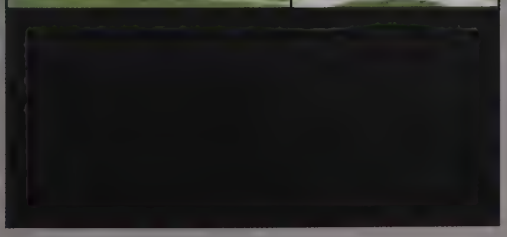
Major upset!!

It all came down to a single game, a single possession, and a single upset. The Junior and Senior classes were tied, and it was decided that one more round of Powderpuff would be the tiebreaker. The Juniors were given first possession of the ball. Everyone watched, fingers crossed and eyes wide, as the play began. The Juniors snapped the ball, and the Seniors ran to cover any possible receivers as best as they could. Every Senior watched in horror as the ball was thrown across the playing field and into the open, waiting arms of a Junior receiver. As soon as it began, the final game had ended, and the Juniors emerged victorious.

Yes, it was a sad day in Senior history. Still, spirits were high as each class exited the school, looking forward to the long Thanksgiving weekend and the annual Turkey Day game. Despite the loss being a damper on the day, it didn't change the fact that the Senior class would be the one waving goodbye to QHS in May of 2011, leaving behind a group of anxious Freshmen, Sophomores, and Juniors staring out the windows at the lives that they would be living in a matter of years.



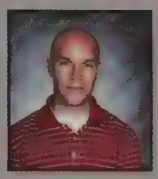




Turkey Day Game

A year of disappointment

The decade of dominance seemed to be dead for sure as North Quincy scored the final and winning touchdown. For quite sometime, the two teams were at a stalemate, 6-6, until Mike Curran of North Quincy High scored the touch town and made the score 13-6. Quincy High was a good sport about losing, and was not left discouraged. "I feel bad for the kids, but all credit to North Quincy—they played well and deserved to win," said Quincy coach Bill Reardon to the Partriot Ledger. Aside from the disappointing loss, the Turkey Day Game was full of activity and fun. The Quincy High Band played miscellaneous songs including both the Quincy High and North Quincy High school songs, the Cheerleaders really showed their pride and cheered on Quincy High with ferocity and the audience was pumped and routing loudly for Presidents or Raiders. All in all, it was good game. The almost sibling-like rivalry between both schools still remains, and will always be looked forward to at the Turkey Day Games.

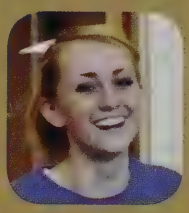


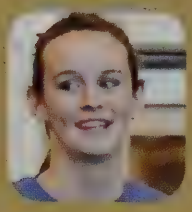
"My favorite Thanksgiving Day game memory came in the 2006 season. It was a cold windy and rainy day, . We blacked a punt late in the fourth qarter and scored a touchdown in the last minute to win the game."
–Mr. Pifer

"My favorite memory during Thanksgiving 2010 is how the team never quits on themselves or eachother."
–Mr. Carey

Cheerleading

With Christine Burgess as a Coach and Maureen Pitts as an Advisor, this season for the QHS Cheerleaders went very well. The 24 girls on the team did amazing, always with a smile on their faces. They especially shone through during the Thanksgiving Day game against the North Quincy Cheerleaders. "I was amazed at how much better they did than North!" said Amanda Liu. The girls had a lot of fun with events, though they did not compete in the tournament this year. Although, tri-captain D'onna Roche says, " I have high hopes for the team next year! This season was probably one of the best I've seen. With more experience and practice, next year will be even better!"





The girls rise to the occasion, being thrown high up.

The team this year decided to make shirts dedicated to their football players, adding extra spirit to their games.

Football

Coach Reardon- "It was a fun season. We played for the league title and were one more win away from qualifying for the post-season. We had strong leadership from our captains and seniors, we had four all-league players in Josh Galindo, Reggie Cesar, Jalen Green, and Jaquan Harris an we're looking forward to good things in the future. Good luck seniors. We will miss you."

Ryan Boyle is by no means a pushover. This behemoth of a lineman is one of the best the team has ever seen. He wears his colors with pride and was a great asset to the team. He along with fellow linemen Dan Nguyen, Brian McDonald and the rest of the line formed an iron-curtain to protect Quarterback Ryan Schultz and provide the opposing Quarterback with plenty to look out for.

The presidents are rushing on to the field before a game. In the front we can see Jalen Green (#25) leading the team out of the locker room followed by Ronn Newsome (#2), Jordan Cardoso (#23), Josh Galindo (#32), and the rest of the presidents team.

Josh Galindo is a Linebacker and Running Back for the Presidents and had a terrific year. He definitely made an impact on his team and made an impact or two on the field as well.

Oh Captain My Captain

Ryan Schultz

Senior Quarterback

Ryan Schultz has been a QB for the Presidents since freshman year and ,although he may not have been much in the beginning, he has grown as a quarterback and was a tremendous asset to the team.

23

Jordan Cardoso

Senior Wide Reciever

Jordan Cardoso has played for the Presidents for four years as a WR. Since 9th grade he has helped his team get through all of the hard times and was there for the good as well.

63

Brian McDonald

Senior Offensive Line

Brian "Big Mac" McDonald has been on the team all four years and has grown from just one of the linemen into the captain of the varsity team his senior year.

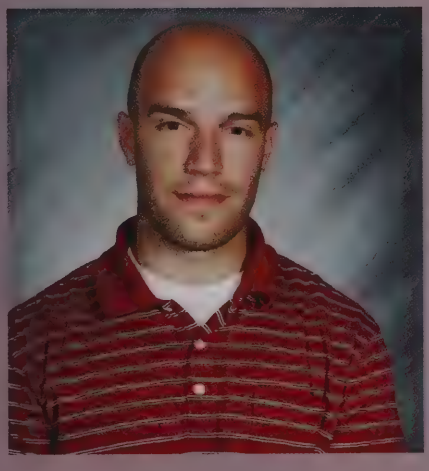
FACULTY



Some of you walked across a cold bridge. You got wet and cold crossing to and from Coddington Hall. You had limited seating at lunch. You were sweating from hot rooms and cold from rooms without heat. You suffered the many hardships that were caused from constructing a new high school. However, through it all you went to class without complaining and were fortunate to reap the benefits of a new school your senior year. I am proud of the legacy you have left behind. Your talents were many.

Dear Seniors,
"All human beings are born with unique gifts. The healthy functioning of our community depends on our capacity to develop each gift."
- Peter Senge

I like this quote because it makes a reference to the fact that we are all individuals. Each one of you has something unique to offer. My only hope is that we have given you all the right tools to develop your individual talents along with the ability to share those talents with the world.

Congratulations!

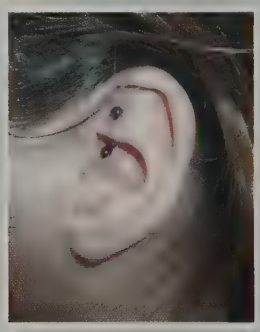
What Is "In" 2011?

There were a number of trends in 2010-2011. Here are just a few!

67% of kids have gone to QHS all four years.

25% of students have had their phone taken away by Mr. Swanson.

16% of kids have tattoos.



45% of kids have piercings.

Cool Phone Facts

Phones sure have changed since they first came out in 1973. Now phones have:

- Email.
- Text and picture messaging.
- Built in cameras.
- Fast internet--up to 4G!
- More convienience--fit in in your pocket!
- The ability to keep in touch with friends easier.

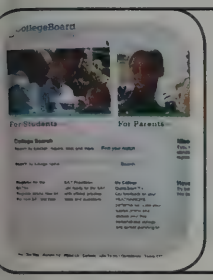
(Right): Today, most phones have touchscreen capabilities and are much sleeker than their ancestors.

Love/Hate Situations



College board helps make finding the best college for us easy.

This picture explains why more and more students are bringing their own lunch to school.

Although the new school is awesome, there are longer distances to travel to get to class.

Transportation

70%of students commute via train and walking.

30% of students drive or get driven.

facebook

In 2010-2011, Facebook was really popular amongst seniors. Communication and keeping up with friends was made even simpler.

"Facebook helped me find out all the info I needed. HAHA!" -Waleska Brown

"Facebook showed me the finer things in life." -Ronn Newsome

"Facebook helped me keep in touch with friends that don't live in Quincy." -Caitlyn Mann

Faculty vs Student Volleyball Game

It was the very first Student-Teacher volleyball game in the brand new gym. Everyone in the gym was excited to see this historic showdown. History was being made by the girls volleyball team, the Conference Champions. No one expected the teachers to win against these girls. Yet, something unexpected happened and the teachers miraculously won. The students won the first game, however the teachers dominated, winning the last two. For those who didn't watch it, y'all missed out! It was a very fun game and it was hilarious to see Mr. Imhoff play. Ms.Krieger a former college volleyball player led her team to victory with her mean spikes!

I just would like to congratulate my classmates and myself! We went from being underdogs to the top dogs of the school. When we were little freshmen, senior year seemed so far and out of reach. It has been a mind-blowing rollercoaster that I would never trade back. It was just yesterday when we were all just meeting each other. We went from leaving the tech, to the college, and becoming the first to graduate from the new building. We've had our downs and we've most certainly had our ups. An experience I will never forget, freshman year basketball, where I met my closest friends. Courtney, Caitlyn, and I have been the best of friends since the day we met and forever will be. Caitlyn, we become so close since sophomore year and always be. Diamela, you and I have been through since point which says it all. Thanks for everything. Liz, we've been good friends since freshman year. To my other ladies: Jaida, Waleska C. Chrissy, Kori, Kathryn, and many more, thanks! You guys are the best! We have been through all the fights and drama. Most of us have become an enemy of one another, but before we leave Quincy High, we all leave as friends, leaving the past in the past, living in the present, and hoping for the future. And finally, thank you for putting up with me, you have changed my life. "Life's too short to wake up in the morning with regrets. Everything happens for a reason, and if you get a second chance, then take it. If it changes your life, let it. Nobody said it would be easy, they just promised it would be worth it. "Best of wishes to Class of 2011

Jaida Almeida

Life at Quincy High would not be the same without these people. The first person I want to mention is my girl Waleska Brown from Dorchester. One of the rudest people I know, yet she is also a great friend. Never is there a day where she doesn't have me laughing so hard. Next are Liz Pyle and Caitlyn Mann, two of my favorite people. Besides the fact that they both drive, they are such funny people and def. my walking buddies to most of our classes. Next is Brittany Vo, I met her junior year and have been friends since. She always has me laughing when she constantly tells me about her ashy elbows! Then there's Carol Onyeokoro, I have known her for years and we have never once got into an argument oh ands laughs at every single one of my jokes :) Next is Veronica Andrade, I just met this year with her this year but she has really shown me how great of a friend she is. I can't forget my Protective Services class which includes Christina Devlin, Kori Sorenson, and Courtney Goodwin, that class would NOT be the same without them. I was not going to mention any boys, but I for sure had to add Bobby Kwiatkowski who has given me TONS of necks throughout the years.

Just wanted to say that most of you are awesome and I'm gonna miss you guys! Jason Rinck class with Dan, Peter, Nicole, and Ashley has been a lot of fun (including peppering my knee out freshman year...eye ---). All of you guys who have helped me through the years including teachers like Mr. Ulose and others, I just wanted to say thank you. Broadcasting, Class WOOF SLOVE video crew & award winning team (D. Allard of the Killer Flood Rap) Matt, Justin, Steven, Kellie, Melissa, and Alex, you guys rock! Live Control for LIFE! The best band at Quincy High bands down! Dan Hall, Dan Hennessey, Sean Clark, Leo Pacelli, and myself! Well that is all...PEACE! drops the mic

Ryan "BANG BANG" Boulle

Congrats QHS senior Class of 2011! We have finally made it! Well most of us. Back in September 2007 (no one seemed so far away) we CAME in and I would like to thank all the 4 year football players (Dan Breen, John Mcnulty, Jordan Cardoza, Ryan Macdonald, Thomas Palmeri, Ryan Schnell) and the rest of my football brothers Ryan Newsome, Dan Nguyen, Jhoselan Lalo, Nick Pinault, Seth Dalton, Chucky Mercado, Josh Caliendo! You all will be the people I will remember the most. A special thank you to Jackie with her always having our backs! Also I wanna thank a couple other people who helped me get here! Mr. Morton, Mr. T, Coach Reardon, Coach Randall, Mr. Sorenson. And the Jack of Jack Stanley! The times we have had as a class from our first Daily to our graduation as high school seniors (It's been fun! Thank you Kammon! Good times lead to great memories...and we have had a lot of good times. And some memories lucky to be the first graduating class out of the brand new high school! And my final shout out ---LOVE DAD!!

Kristina Bonnyman

Aka Krissy. Some memories I've had at CHS are my 16th birthday party ... Chilling with my girl Kelley we've had some fun times together inside and outside of school. One really funny memory was when Kelley and I were on my front porch and Marya climbed on my roof and tried to get us. Also every Sunday when my mom was sleeping I took her car (I only had my permit) hahahaha. My senior class in Health class, me and my girl Jasmine used to make fun of our teacher the whole time. Her name was Mr. Mac and she looked like a rat! LOL Thank you Senators for my time at CHS xoxoBye!

Adelaida Bravo-Candelo

Wassh class of 2011! We're graduates from the new building, we did it! Although I didn't grow up with you Quincy kids I can say I've made some pretty amazing friends that I cherish great memories with. Thanks to all those who stayed loyal from freshman year until now. For a mom like me, Emily, POOCH (Jaida), Carol, Vera, Shanti, Tammy, Jordan, Kyle, Bobby, and Alex I love you guys. Good luck to those who have still not yet graduated. Be safe, have fun and enjoy the last days of your senior year. To the new editors: Ben, Tatiana, Ronny, Melyssah, Chayra, Shannon, Shirley, Kori, Jamie, Chelli, Kat. I'm sad we weren't closer but we've made the best of our time. Special shoutout to my girl Amanda Liz you know how we do, wouldn't have had this many laughs this year without you. Guys we made it we actually made, we're seniors here. Don't waste the first day of senior year. From the simple things like crumpled Oreos spree with gelato every now to then with friends or going to every lunch without getting caught are going to be missed. I wish everyone luck in their future and much success. This is goodbye for now.

Nicholas Campbell

"Don't cry because it's over smile because it happened". Class of 2011 we finally made it! These past four years have been hectic from our freshman year in the tech to being the first class to graduate from the new high school. To all my girls K.J. S.A. C.O.B.N. love you all. I don't know how I would have gotten through high school without you. For the guys M.P. B.G. D.M. C.C. you guys are the best. Mom and Dad thanks for pushing me to succeed. And Christine you're the best friend and sister I could ever have. thanks for everything. As for everyone else, we livet it up at Tavern, Field street, in the Neck and especially Kammon's. Kim & Kathryn I will never sit on the couch! :) I will never forget any of these crazy nights. Congrats and good luck to everyone you have truly made highschool unforgettable.

Adelle Caparanga

To Kellie Bosworth-Newman, BFF. It all began in Ms. Randall's class, when Maria switched her seat and we became friends at last. I knew this friendship was gonna be sweet. Staying up late with cupcakes to eat. We know too much, but that's our fault. Our friendship is like a great big vault. A vault of laughter, and one of tears we even shared our darkest fears. Movie nights and Alice Moments, you will remember from my poems. You may write better than me, but I know you'll love this, because you're my BFF.

you see. To Everyone Else (You Know Who You Are): I could list the stuff that made high school great, but honestly, that sounds boring mate. A poem seems more fitting for me, cuz in case you didn't know, I am cah-ray-zee. This girl's been with me since middle school, thanks for sticking around, and being cool. Lisa Lam, you're a fantastic lady, smart and awesome, and thankfully, not shady. I hope life brings you happiness. Love. Laughter. and lots to bless. Kaitlyn Clare Mahn, yes I used your middle name, Your personality's awesome, and your energy's aflame. When we first chatted, I knew you were cool. Look at us now, four years later in school. We're better than ever, and more epic indeed, due to years of adventures put on hyper speed. I wish we were friends longer, but I'm glad that we we're friend at all. Maybe, one day, we can go together on a pub crawl. Nicole Peterson, here's your shout out, to treasure for years to come, to rip off our yearbook, and get it framed and hung. Thanks for listening, and laughing, talking, and smiling, or even just being there. Thanks for being the friend who shows that you care.

Shannon Carey

Thank you to all the people who helped me!! My family and friends have been AMAZING!! Angie, you have always been there, thank you so much I love you buddy! Julie, oh my homeroom buddy…crazy core skittles in algebra. Howdy Christina!! I love our funny accents we did in ECE! Stephanie and Jessica my bus buddies, you guys are amazing!! Jennifer, remember when Angie choked on the pizza with hot sauce….Well, thank you all for the amazing memories. I will never forget you guys…keep in touch!!

Steven Chung

So this is really the end, huh? I think not. I can happily say that I've made many new acquaintances that I will never forget. Whether they have graduated or they have a few years left at school, I'm glad we were introduced. I don't like picking favorites, since I love them all (and I don't want to hurt anyone's feelings for missing someone). So, while I'm not mentioning any particular names, I will give a shout-out to certain groups that I was happy to be a part of. All four years of Band were a blast and I'm also proud to have worked with members of Choir. Football games, MMEA District Choir Festivals, concerts, and much more are only the few ways in describing the many interesting (and fun) experiences. Now, who could forget the "Broadcasting Bunch" and their antics on the morning announcements? I'll miss saying "Good morning Quincy High! This is Steven Chung!" and I wish the rest of the under-classmen luck (and in "luck" I mean…DON'T BREAK ANYTHING!). I was thrilled to have come across the MFA Docent Program and was proud of the work that our group accomplished at the Museum of Fine Arts. It was nice to work with kids from North Quincy and present classical pieces of artwork to under-classmen. I'd like to give a special thank you to the community teams of the National Honor Society and the Quincy High Student Council for helping me realize that student voices are important in making decisions for a successful progress. I know that someday I will find a way to become a success in life. It will not be a walk in the park, but I'm willing to make the commitment. John Quincy Adams once said, "All rising to a great place is by a winding stair" and I know it's going to be a long stairway with great pleasure in sight. I won't go on to say all the cliché things like "Time just flew by!" or "There's no other person in the world that could make me this happy!" and all that jazz. Quincy High is a great school and I thank the staff and Principal Santoro for making sure that everyone enjoyed their years here. Lastly, I'd like to thank my family. I thank my sister, Sara, and my grandfather for their support and I especially thank my mother and father for letting me make the choice of coming to Quincy High. I don't regret any moment. So long and see you all in the future!

Nick Dellamano

My favorite memory of Quincy High has to be Halloween. Some of the costumes were so funny while others where "revealing". I remember Asha dressed up like a girl and it was so funny because everyone thought he was an ugly new girl. Then Dan Hall dressed as a giant chicken and no one knew who he was for half the day. By lunch time he got so hot he had to take off the head and he was all sweaty, but my favorite costume was...well let's just say I wouldn't mind if she gave me a checkup. You never know what's going to happen when you go to QHS, I'm going to miss it.

Christina Devlin (Chrissy Dee)

We finally made it Class of 2011, first to graduate from the brand new Quincy High! I can't believe we're already Seniors! It feels like freshmen year was just yesterday and we were all getting lost :(. The senior girls who were there for me freshmen and sophomore year: thanks for everything loves! Kathryn, Linn, Jaimie, Julia, Katie, Liz, Mary, Stacey, Courtney, and Kels <3 Through all the ridiculous and intense drama sophomore year, we finally made it to Senior year without continuous arguements! Props to us. Ayee finds- tila tequila and jolt haha that's something i'll never forget cause we were soooo ridiculous <3 ... Protective Services: Jaidaaa girl, Waleska, Kori, Jul-ia, Kelsey, and Brittany: it's been a hilarious 3 years with Welch's grape juice and teeries!!! So many laughs and so many aggravating moments it's ridiclous. Can't forget about Manny and the hot inmates at Dedham wow we're awful .. I'll miss ya girlies love yous! To my junior girls: since Atherton Hough! Love you boos always thanks for everything: Juju, Chriss, Cook, Deeski and my point girls Ash and Jess ... you guys will be visting me at college, so its never a goodbye. To my hough neck boys: Kyle, Shawn, Tommy, Big Mac, Nick, Derek, RT, Gibba, and Dukeeeyyy .. can't forget Corey John, Dubba,Schultzy!: Thanks for always being there and your welcome for all the whips :) Finally, to the houghs neck crew in general: I'll never forget all the memories and everything we've all been through- fights, drama, Kamman posts, crusher, labreque, PL, party after prom at bigie's, tripping game, BERNIES and of course the 3rd of July, what we all wait for every year and plan months in advance love all yas and I'll be seeing you all the time :) Best of luck to the class of 2011 ! I hope all of you do well in the future. "It's never a goodbye, but a see you later."

Stella B. Edwards

I am probably the only senior that signs their middle initial in everything. High school has been a very fun rollercoaster for me and senior year is when it's at its highest. First of all I want to say without my friends I don't know how I would have been the person I am today. My oldest and dearest friend Nicole Wakhweya, I have known Nicole since the 7th grade. Nicole and I were born in the same country (Uganda) and we didn't know each other until the 7th grade when the second day of school she came wearing a Uganda shirt and I told her I was born there and she had been too. What can I really say about Nelly Rodriguez that isn't really known? I love how Nelly and I say the things during random times or do the same things. The one thing I truly love about Nelly is her jealousy. You know you have a true friend when she gets jealous when you talk to your friends more than her and I think I needed that in my life. Nneoma Aguguo till this day still will not tell us how to pronounce her last name. Nneoma know how to keep a person grounded and not let stupid stuff go to their head. Her obsession with spaghetti is by far the second most interesting thing her and I love that she has an obsession. Lorna Foreman is one the most mature people I know and she balances me out more than I know. With me being all crazy and Nicole being Nicole, Nelly being Nelly and Nneoma being Nneoma, Lorna balances all of us and she plays the mother role because she always know what to do. Jessica Kelly is the only person that can truly call me short and make fun of me being short and be right. She is the only friend that I have that Is over 6ft tall and I have a higher vertical jump than her. Jess is one of those friends that if I had a bad game I could talk to just because sports is how we met and how we became such great friends. Her socks are to

I want to thank my best friends Sarah A, Jillian C, and Emma F. for being with me these past years. You guys helped me so much and kept me going. I love you guys for all the things you have done for me. Each of you are very special people and I wish you all luck in the future. I'd also like to thank Steve Zinser and many of my fellow NJROTC cadets. We have shared so many great times together and I wish you prosperity and success in the future! Special thanks to Mrs. Carrigan, my freshman Mom, Dad, Kristen, Teresa, Tammy, Kaylie, and Mike. You all inspired and motivated me to do my best and set goals for myself. High school was fun and I'm going to miss these years. Good Luck Class of 2011!

Alex Spence

First of all I would like to give a shout out to my dudes and my girls. Myles, top dog. I have like said, always there for me and he was a cat! He is going to be something someday and I'll be proud to say that I knew him. Jamie, I tell her everything because she always listens and helps me out. She's quirky and funny and I love her to death. I love it when she laughs out of joy because it gives me up and changes my whole day. I probably take a bullet for her. Kon is so nice. I still can't believe it. We just started talking a lot this year, but I feel like I've known her for so long. She always cheers me up and makes me laugh way too much. She is amazing. Carvin, this kid is hilarious and never gets mad, except when (I flip his burger). We walk the halls constantly and I tell him pretty much everything. We grabbed Vietnamese one night. If you never had Vietnamese with Carvin, then you don't know what's up because even if you didn't finish your huge meal, he will finish it for you. My brother. Next is Amanda Liu. She is very misunderstood. If you don't know her, then you probably don't like me because she doesn't play around. she is a good person but bad driving skills. Definitely keep a seatbelt on because I have a feeling if I wanted she will never let me live it down, but I know her deep down inside. Matt Head, this kid is annoying as hell when he wants to be, but a good kid. Only kid I knew at Quincy High the first day. Funny kid and also really smart doesn't really let people copy his homework though, not cool). We always fight at lunch and he just got out of the way of the flying Gatorade bottle once but of course I love him or he wouldn't be in this. Next up is Brittany Vo. I'd date her. She's funny and really nice. We always share lunch, and I eat her Cheese Puffs. She was meant to be named, if you don't know her, then you better walk up to her after you read this and introduce yourself. Kevin Nguyen. This kid loves cars and soccer. Met him to hang out with and he's a cool kid. One of the nicest kids I knew and very quiet. He's a definite rescue of my boss without a doubt. Wesley Brown. Met her freshman year, she creates. We fight a lot but she still one my closest. Whenever she is not around or she is I can't be with and funny. Pretty cool chick. Lost her not lost I mean. This guy is just amazing. Even though he can't see he does on with his life and is happier than most people that are perceived unequal to us. He is also smart and very nice and even had the cover of the school making a documentary on him. I know that one day Gerald is going to be famous because someone deserves it, he does. Lastly my boys that graduated. Marco Tacci, Cedric, Mom Mani, Chris, Shakir, Percy, Filipe and Antonio who is leaving for Brazil. A shoutout to QHS Boys Soccer coach, I still be coach and we gotta be on some games boys. Everyone else that didn't get mentioned I am really sorry, but there are many more people I've met I include

Jian Bin Guo

[illegible] I heard I came [illegible] in the last period but I edited it and used to make it a little bit more interesting. 2007 a quiet Chinese boy came to QHS as an 8th student. This is the first year he leave China and his longest time is AWFUL. 2008 he joined the math club, and started working on his English, but his English grammar was AWFUL. 2009 he passed the MCAS, and joined QHS tennis team as a junior. His English spelling was AWFUL. 2010 he joined NHS, started at QHS tennis team and took over math club. In this senior life he met a lot of AWFUL 2011 he decide to major in mathematics, and he met one of AWFUL. These are some AWFUL and All these AWFUL's came together FULL fill the Alwys Memory at QHS 11. This can never be replaced. AWFUL. John Arcuri one of my Jian Bin Guo Pearls you and all for the [illegible] of mathematics.

High school really does fly by and I couldn't have done it without my family, friends and teachers. Thanks Mom and Dad for pushing me through school, and always supporting me. With the help of Kari Sanderson and Mrs. Scholes, I passed Chemistry with Honors!! To my boys Jeremy O, Danny, Eddie, Brandon, Derek, and Kevin. To the Ladies Nichole, Liz, Kelly, Courtney, Amanda, Marcy, Kendra and Gabi. I'm also going to miss playing baseball and hockey. I'll also miss giving necks to Liz and Jaida when they say stupid things. And a special thanks to Mrs. Martin. She has helped me with so much over the past four years. Thanks Liz Pyle for helping me write this. Good luck Class of 2011!

Lisa Lam

I have had some of the best and some of the worst times at Quincy High. Freshman year walking through the Voctech bridge in the winter having to wear 3 layers under a HUGE jacket, only to arrive at a giant traffic jam either in the stairwell or in the tiny corridor next to the attendance office, was miserable. Sophomore and Junior year that hike to and from Coddington. Enough said. And finally Senior year. Supposedly the greatest year of high school. It's not as great as you think it is, but of all these miseries, I don't regret ever experiencing any of them. I think the best thing Quincy High is all the opportunity they gave us. I mean everyone was involved in something, well most everyone.I played sottball my entire high school career. I picked it up freshman year and loved it. Eventually I worked my way up to Varsity. I mean I didn't do much on the Varsity team, but I won some games for us. Getting involved, making new friends, having a great time. There were memories that none of us would take back. And finally all I'm going to say is Mr. Cedar. And ODW. Such a great club, doing great things, with wonderful people. Keep on working ODW! And finally the best people of Quincy High. So many things changed with my friends and family during high school, but I want to thank all of the friends who stuck through everything with me. So thanks Alyssa Shaw and my boyfriend who no one knows but my friends, Matt Giovanni. And of course thanks so much to Adelle Caparanga, Kellie Neuman and Conor Curran-Cross. You guys haven't always been my best friend but thats what we've come to be over the years. And last but not least, I want to give a great big thanks to my teachers and Mr. Santoro. I know its not that easy to teach us rotten kids, but there are some students that make it all worthwhile. The same goes for the teachers. I haven't had any bad teachers but there are students that have.They still play an important part in your life. So thank you, especially Ms. Bacchieri. Honestly the greatest teacher out there. You've made such a great impact on not only my high school career but my life. Love you! We're all going to look back at this school and although we may dislike it now, we're going to miss it. I love this school. So thank you Quincy High School.

Amanda Liu

This is crazy; it seems like just yesterday we were freshmen! I remember sitting in the auditorium, surrounded by unfamiliar faces... but now I know all of you. We've been through it all: sneaking in coffees every morning, seeing the horrified faces of teachers at homecoming, and losing out on some great traditions like Powerpuff and dressing up on Halloween. Thanks to anyone that has put up with my bad attitude and awful mood swings! I love my gfraand, Jaimie! Thanks for being there; I think you know the most about me out of anyone! Liz (Eli, Slizz, Pizz), I will always remember all the great times we had, PP! Wewewe, Craig's Café everyday afterschool, and of course that incident behind NQHS after the college fair. Drinking water, only water. Kate and Liz, panthers out! Cicciccic. Don't forget family sized breadsticks and Suli falling off his bike. Never forget our broski, Bobby! Waleska, so glad we got close this year! Never would have made it through senior year without you. Calvin, we actually acknowledged each other's existence this year! Thank you for listening to me cry about everything. I'm comfortable enough to talk to you as if you're a girl, but you can provide the mindset of a guy. Our friendship has the best of both worlds :) Fair warning: if you choose to do engage in risky actions, it might turn inside out. We've been through so much in so little time. Alex, been through so many ups that the rare downs don't even count. You're my voice of reason. Honestly you will probably be one of the most good-hearted and loyal kids I'll ever meet. Bobby (BBB), since freshman year algebra. Thank for you not letting Len kill me. Glad we finally had a class together again! "Katy Perry, that's so ghetto. Real talk." Bren, you've saved my life on so many different occasions! Thanks and love you! Sparky, thanks for all the tshirts and boxers. Frede, keep making those fresh beatz, ayyyeeeee. Hope you all keep in touch, love you guys so much!! Thank you to anyone who's helped me out in the past 4 years. Class of 2011, good luck with everything you do!

Caitlyn Mann (Kate)

I know it sounds cliche but we made it seniors! We've been through so much, having to get used to being in a new school every year and with all that constrction that there was! Hard to realize that when we all came in here three years ago we didn't really know one another, and now were friends. I don't know what I would do without some of you, because you helped make me who I am today. Liz (or Rizz) "dats otay, ew gross" loveeee you girll, FREEE WEEZY <3 you've been there for me no matter what through all the tripping, spilling, stupidness and more! Amanda remember when we were at your house and Suli came down and fell off his bike? Kendra thank you for everything, I'm so glad we've always managed to stay close! meghan- if I were to mention all the things I would thank you for it would not be able to fit on the page! Courtney remember if you see a coyote to pretend to be a parked car and youre all set. Dennis (Justin Beiber) I can't wait till you get me that peniuim one processor for my computer its going to be great! FredKed goodluck with the rap career, miss our history class! Josh my birthday buddy, I so glad we got to be friends! and Bobby, go to your locker everyday before lunch and playing with that random ping-pong ball and Mrs. Martins period 56.Thank you to every one who has been there for me. Good luck !

Christina Ashley Muffuletto

When I first showed up to Quincy High my junior year, it seemed like everyone welcomed me with open arms, I wasn't just the new girl. Out of all 3 high schools I attended my closest friends are here. "Sometimes in life, you run across a love unknown withought a reason, it seems like you belong, hold on dear life, dont go off running from whats new, I became somebody through loving you" -Anthony Hamilton. I dedicate this song to all my friends from Quincy who brought me here and loved me through my ups and downs, I Love you guys and hope we remain friends after high school. (To: Jaida, Veronica Andrade, Jonathan Correia, Vanessa Hodgdon, Diamela, Snow, Nancy Sy, Shelly, Carol, Shanice, Danny, Mo Mo, Chuck, Deonte, Lannie, Liz Spada, Seth and my teachers Ms. Martin, Ms. Snell, Ms Becky, Ms. MGinnity)

First off, RS I will never forget us. Through AFJROTC Fresh,Soph,&Jun yr. I found my best friends. JF- I wouldn't have made it through w/o your unwashed jokes and peppiness. CM- You're the coolest person in the world except when you make me angry, then I really don't like you, jk. AM- Through everything we made it together. Thanks! KW- Your funny ways will stay in my memory forever. See you in the USAF! SE- You will always be my English buddy! CE- W/o you I'm sure SE & I would've failed 11th grade eng. I'm really glad were friends I wouldn't have made it through soccer w/o you, love ya. To my lunch buddies JS MM SA JF I'll always remember our fun, mean, and cynical comments about the people around us. Thanks guys for being the friends you are: MS MO BB MV JO & SC Finally let me say I would be an undeserving inconsiderate nincompoop if these people hadn't helped me along the way: MS NH RS TH AS! Thank you for the inspiration you gave me to never give up.

Wow! Senior year sure went like lightning. Now, we're ready to be released out into the world, and I think we're quite ready. Many opportunities await us! Let's push on! I want to thank my family for their love, kindness, and support, especially Collin, Diana, Rosella, Lisa, and my mother and father. And an thanks goes out to my grandparents. I to express my gratitude towards all my Jamie S., Kori S., Alex G., Matt H., P., Kendra J., Becky R., Christine F., R., Jackie P., Isabelle S., Ciana B., Jen- L., Alexus D., Madison K., Mallory M., Joshua K., Peter P., Melisa M., the two 's, and anyone else that I haven't men- I'd also like to say thank you to those e passed on, have graduated, or have other reasons: Mrs. Myers, Mr. Nickel- rs. Rowe, Danielle Woods, Zach Dwyer, al-Mamoud, Emily Hajjar, Amber Mrs. Gill, Mrs. Cash, and others. Love all! A special thanks goes out to Mrs. rs. Newell, Mr. McHugh, Julie N. and tudent teacher. And to my teachers: Ms. wick, Mr. K., Ms. Dwyer, Mr. Carew, Neice, Mrs. McNeice, Mr. Green, Ms. e, Mr. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Boudreau, Nosek, Mrs. Carvalho, Ms. Kabakoff, arris, Mr. Swanson, Mr. E., others from man Seminar, Ms. Twomey, Ms. Cesso, Mr. Duset, and Ms. Spencer. Thank l. I will miss you very much! (sad face). want to thank Steven Chung. Steven, ave been a great friend. Ever since we kindergarten, we never lost contact ch other. It took a simple "Hello!" k our friendship. Thank so much for you've done for me in these 13 years of d excitement, and I will surely miss the biggest frown that no one has ever

I'm supposed to write a short bio about perience at Quincy High, including a de jokes or select memories I'd actu- to remember (because you know, no need to include that one time nen year I tripped down the stairs in a really cute senior). I could maybe bout the time I went down the wrong se in the Tech, trying to find the gym, stead found a senior smoking; though ght be slightly inappropriate (anyone te a pattern here?). Besides, who cares? g back, some things stand out more tant than others. Like science. I don't ber anything I learned, but little did I hat agreeing to switch seats with some- ould lead me to my best friend, Adelle nga. High school would have sucked t her at my side; who else would help epic nicknames such as "Sneakers" he UK," obsess over Charlie McDon- longside me, or have Alice Moments movie nights with? She deserves a medal tening patiently while I tried to make t "what he said and why he did this," cliché as this sounds, for being there the good times and the bad. She more about me than even I know, and ally wanted to, she could probably ail me for life, which is perfectly okay There's some other cool peeps I o mention, least they read this and be all, "Um Kellie, thanks for mentioning me in your bio!" These awesome losers include: Conor "Mr. President" Curran Cross, Jeff Lim aka Casanova aka Justin Bieber, Kaitlyn Mahn, member of the 2nd generation Mahn-Newman friendship; Brianna Parker, Lisa Lam, Melissa Falcone, Mike Meng, my entire Broadcasting crew / family, you guys rock and I can't imagine a better group of people to spend the start and end of the day with. Broadcasting Bunch forever; all my fellow ODW Officers and members I haven't mentioned, and most importantly, my Papa, who is the reason I've done all that I have here at Quincy High. I love and miss you more every day. I'm sure I've forgotten a few names, so feel free to bring it up at our 20th reunion.

Class of 2011 we finally made it!! These past four years have gone by so fast and I cant believe its over. I can remember being a freshman and not knowing most of you and now I will remember all of you as making my high school years as great as they were. I would like to thank my mother for being there for me. I could not have done this without her! Congrats and I wish you all the best of luck!

Ronn Newsome

"No love for em' breakin hearts, no keys push to start", I was only here for 2 years but for the 2 years I was here I enjoyed my time, and the friends I met. We will also be Turkey Day victors and yeah thats pretty much it. Hopefully everyone I met here will end up being successful and have a nice life, RiZZ is out! Hb we out here. (period)

Brianna Parker (Bree)

Coming to Quincy High School has given me many memories that I will always cherish, but what I will remember the most is the diversity of the school. I will remember the culture fairs that were held in the tech building before it got demolished and learning others' backgrounds. Playing tennis my sophomore year also helped me gain memories and friends at Quincy High as well. Being on the team helped me to branch out to others in order to make more friends and to see where I fit in. Though I was shy when I first came to Quincy High as a new student my freshman year I want to give thanks to my guidance counselor, Mrs. McGeady for making me feel comfortable all four years at this school. I would also like to give thanks to Mrs. Campanele and Ms. Baker for being so caring. They treated with so much care I could not thank them enough.

Calvin Nguyen

So many ups and downs, smiles and frowns, but hey, we're finally seniors. I remember waiting for this day since we became freshmen. But thinking back, now I wish high school could only last longer. Asha, Josh, and Matt Kelley, you three have stuck by my side the longest, we been through so much together. When one of us was down, we're able to count on each other. Family isn't someone who is necessarily there every day with you but is someone who is there when you need them the most. Y'all are my brothers. Marty, Marty, Marty, Army, Army, Army: I don't think I bothered anyone else as much as you two for school work, my year would have been a fail without you two! Alexandru, SHARKBOY we've became such great friends since junior year. We started lifting together, you make lunch for me, and we have almost every class together! I even took you out for Vietnamese food which I know you loved oh so much, so you owe me some Romanian grub! You're the friendliest guy I've met and you should stay that way, it'll take you far. Amanda -_-, we've so much history since we connected in summer 2010. Beating you and Wendy in your own game & grabbing Chipotle was the best routine. Speaking of Mexican food, the day you Wendy and I went to Mexico was the best night of summer 2010! Veronica, you were the first person to show me how kind somebody could be. We've only become closer and every time we spend time I constantly learn more about you and how great of a person you are. I'm glad I'm the one you run to when ish hits the fan because I know you got me when I need some loving too! Chiante, I'm sorry for always walking away when we're talking and never texting you back in the middle of a conversation. <- ADD -> Elizabeth, you lack common sense and try &fail to be funny but you're the most "halarious" person I know. If you 4216 and that "one day" comes make sure you bring me that long needed map and band aid (!) <3x49. And to everybody else, I'm glad I got a chance to meet you. We made it! Feels like freshman year was just yesterday…it's crazy to think of everything we've been through. To all my soccer girls and everyone I met freshman year, thanks for everything! Stacey, since freshman year and inseparable since! Jaimie and Nichole we've been threw everything, and will always be together. Bobby and Brendan, you've always been there! Matt since we were baby's freshman year in homeroom! Started with three buildings and first class graduating from the newest one. "All our dreams can come true...if we have the courage to pursue them." Good luck class of 2011!

Elizabeth Pyle (Liz)

I never really believed anyone when they said high school flies by, but now thinking back, it really did. I remember wondering as a freshman what senior year would be like. I thought it was sooo far away. Well, here we are. Kristen and Lindsey, even though you guys don't go to QHS, I couldn't have made it through high school without either of you. Kate, Q, "ohhh gaawdd," where do I start? I'm soo glad we met in English class freshman year otherwise I'd be a loner in school. Thanks for understanding me even when I made no sense at all. Triplet Basket Liu (est. 202), Snellville wouldn't have been the same without you. And we can't forget about Twomey's class freshman year (R.I.P. plaid outfit cicic). Stacey and Courtney, I'm so glad we've gotten closer again this year. We're probably the fattest lunch table. nbd. And let's not forget basketball freshman year, the spatula, chips and dip, and port-a-potty. And to Jaida, my Weezy buddy, (Free Jaida). Probably the funniest person I've met, even though you make fun of me for everything. Dennis, aka j.biebs, I can't wait for our intrigue on May 23rd. DBx49 (Calvin) all the way back to Ms. Coffey's class, aaayy check us outt. Twins forever guy, see you in Vietnam for college. 342264. Well four years later and I couldn't agree with that state.FredKed, I'll be looking out for my rap in the near future. Bobby, you're soo random but its hilarious. I love having 4 classes and lunch with you, but I don't love the necks. Good times eating danishes in English. Corey, thanks for always making me die laughing. And to everyone else, thank you for making these past four years worth every minute. Free At Last YMCM. "life is a beach, i'm just playin in the sand" deuces(:

I think we all remember the first day of school when we walked into the auditorium and listened to the Mr. Santoro talk. One of the things he said this will be the fastest four years of your life. I remember kind ment anymore. This time flew by. In my years here I have participated in some sports, met new friends, and tried to succeed in my studies. First off I would like to thank my family for all pushing me to do my best. I would also like to thank all the teachers I have had for helping me whether it be during class or after, they made you feel welcome and comfortable. There is no other place in the world I would have wanted to spend these four years. Now I would like to give thanks to my best friends that I made at Quincy. Well when I first came to this school I only knew a handful of people and the first person who approached me to talk was, Mathew Head. I know most of you know Mat as that loud kid in class. Well he was the first person I hung out with at Quincy High. Through the years we have shared a countless number of memories. Mat is always there when I need him and is always guaranteed to make me laugh. Another one of my best friends is Alex Giurca. Alex is one of those people that it is impossible to get mad at. He is definitely the man to go to if you want a heart to heart moment. He is always there is listen and will give you the best advice. One of my newer friends is Brittany Vo. We started to talk this year. B Vo is one of the best girls around. She is so easy to get along with and just talk to. She is one of those girls I consider myself to be lucky to know. friends. Last off I just want to thank Mr. Tully, without this teacher I probably wouldn't take engineering. He makes class so enjoyable and a great teacher. I would also like to thank Mr. Brestch. He had to put up with a lot of crap from me and Mat, but he still taught us and helped me mature. I just want to say Thanks to all the teachers for helping me mature and making this a great year. Now the sports teams I wouldn't have wanted to touch the ice with any other guys so thanks for making it a great 4 years QHS hockey. Now golf, what would I do without Sweet Lou. What I learned from golf is to go balls deep and put everything in.

Armagan Sezer

One of the best memOries I have of high school would probably be the day on which we were to play our first north game of my senior year for soccer. There was a lot of excitement and tension, so, to lighten the mood, we each had to bring jokes to tell before the game. Our coach brought a story that was both funny and weird at the same time. Thanks for all you've done coach and I want WANGA! I want to also thank Ms. Twomey for Docents, the whole soccer team for a great season and Mrs. Roberts for bringing the Foreigner out of me. Also to brag about everything I've done and a special thank you to the coaches and people of Track, Tennis, MFA, and AFC. Finally a shout out to all my friends who made high school what it is for me. First of all Martin Conroy. This guy was the quietest kid I knew when I first met him. It didn't last, Marty became one of the best friends I had and the most annoying one. He's crazy for ManUtd and it you want to get him pissed its not hard. Also he glitches in FIFA. This guys going to be somebody, I know that much. I can see this guy running ManUtd for al I know.. They suck anyways! Next up we got Dimitrios Kalogeras, "the big guy". This guy is the funniest kid I know. He's like a library of jokes you say something funny, he's got something funnier to say back. I honestly don't know how Docents would have been without you. Keep it up big guy we'll get our payback on those pigeons.. soon.. We got Maria Vazquez next, unfortunately. El Diablo, you're another person I can't imagine having Docents without. You define crazy Mexican, thank you for proving stereotypes Maria. Neext there is Amanda Liu. All the things I have to say about this girl probably would be passing the people at the yearbook class, so I'll try to say the nicest things I can find about her. She.. uhh... I guess I can credit he with teaching me how to snowboard, and m beating her on the same day at a race. Than for all the good times Amanda, you've mad French class fun and sometimes crazy. All I have to say is you and Jaimie should not be put together. My emo boy, Samson Yu, or lit Sammy is up next. I've known this kid since 5th grade. He was emo then he's emo now. You were one of the few people I knew whe came here and you're like a human calculat Try not to get more emo dude.. Kelvin Yang I don't know how to describe this kid. He's just awesome. He has drawn Ironman for Mr. Bells Finals Essay. I just cant describe you man. Of course then there is Ori Maci. I can describe Kelvin without Ori. They come in a package and I've known this to be true ever since 9th grade, and I don't think I would be able to separate them if I tried. Lastly there is Thomas Pecoraro. The Italian/Puerto Rican American/I don't even know. Tom, you've shown me that you can have fun in the stupidest ways possible. By the way, I'm never stuffing my clothes with candy to sneak it into the movie store again, that's what little brothers are for.. All the people I haven't mentioned you are all still my boys I would want to have all of you in here but, I ran out of space to mention your crazy stories, or it wasn't allowed. Thank you for making High School one crazy ride for me. This yearbook will self destruct in 5, 4, 3, 2...

Jaimie Shaughnessy

Hopefully when I look back and read these Bio 20 years from now, I'll think about those moments that made the past 4 years at Quincy High untorgettable. From th vo-tech that was falling apart to a state of the art new "academy", this school has treated us all so well (though I'm sure we hate to admit it.) To everyone that I love, thank you so much for everything. Mumma, Daddy, Giulia Schanno, Julia, Alex, Courtney Peters...Peter Katie, Korison, Amandork-my gf-- I love you all so much! To all my teachers and coaches that have put up with me for the past 4 year thank you! And to Quincy High Class of 2011, Congratulations and good luck!

Congrats to the class of 2011 and good luck

Austin Tobin

I made this my biography for everybody to look back at when were 70 , all old and wrinkly & our probably haven't laughed in a decade , and our grandkids say " Papa or Nana , can I see your year book" And you don't want to get up because you need a cane just to get up and walk over to the book shelf ,When you flip the page and see this , I hope you all laugh as hard as I am writing this , make us feel like kids again." But like my mother always said " Austin your only as good as the people around you".Simply why I surrounded myself by the best (Dub , Johnell , Jay Q , Paul , DIamela, & Kori)...A few words like a thank you , or I love you , or I appreciate you for being there for me . Will ever express how I really feel about to two women I'm about to name . Without you two I wouldn't even got out of bed nevermind graduate. One of them my heart , the other my beat. Forever have my heart .Love you ma & angel <3

Its already over when it feels like we just began! Time flew by and I had the time of my life and it all wouldn't be the same without the people I shared it with. Cook, thank you isn't enough, your basically a sister to me. ily To the neck boys, you know who you are I love you all and cant wait to raise our kids together at Labreck. D-BLOCK! KOD, CMC, & KIJ, for all the laughs and fights together I wouldn't trade them for anything. Thanks for making high school worth whiled! Chrissy Dee there's not a doubt I wont think of you when I look back on these last four years and us being scared to get out of the car on our first day. Mom,Dad, and Josh thanks for putting up with me all these years, I owe yah. No regrets just memories... Lada QHS Lacrosse 9,10,11,12

I don't even know what to type, but let me start by saying kudos* for all of you who put with me since sophomore year. Lol, I must admit that I know it was hard. Senior year is finally here and it's finally about to be over – I can't wait to put that gown on and watch all of you guys walk across the stage! Everyone who I've spoken to on a personal level should know that I care about you, and I love every single one of you. #Shoutouts to Jasmine for being by my side since the day I came to this school. We were both lost, but being lost with you made me feel 10x more comfortable. More #shoutouts to my babies: first friend in QHS Brianna Parker, Erica, Diamela, Majida, Carol, Vero, Waleska, Lorna, my favorite Asians Shailey and Brittany Vo, Shani, Jaida, Lindsey, Melyssah and Melo<3 A[illegible] graduate and go our separate ways. I hope every one goes [illegible] whatever they're doing the best they can. I'll be rooting for all of you! P.S Calvin, I'll never forget your half walk down the hall, and then you ditching me. I love you though boo. CLASS OF 2011 –

"Team competition provides students with a great way to hone their learning," Coach Mrs. Ryan said. "The members work together to make sure everyone on the team is a strong competitor. The contests are challenging, but these students have the confidence and skills to conquer them."

The Continental Math League has been providing fun competitions in mathematics and computer sciences since 1980. The annual calculus contests include thirty-two questions divided into four rounds. These questions offer students a great opportunity to test their knowledge of calculus and practice for the College Board Advanced Placement examination.

On November 21st at Ashland High School, Quincy High School was among the thirty-two schools that participated in the Massachusetts combined large-and-small-school regional scrimmage in preparation for the 2010 United States Academic Decathlon. Local, regional and state competitions can lead to the national final, which this academic year will take in Omaha, Nebraska in April. This year our team brought home medals for the first time." Coach Evelyn Ryan said. "We finished in 8th place, but only the first six large schools made it to the states."

The United States Academic Decathlon was created to provide opportunities for students to experience the challenges of rigorous team and individual competition. Each team competes in ten events —economics, language and literature, art, music, mathematics, social science, science, essay, interview, and speech. Each year the science or social science is used as the Super Quiz topic.

Combined High School Select Choir

This is the advanced high school choral ensemble that rehearses after school and includes students from both CHS and SQHS. Students are accepted through auditions. Classical, Renaissance, Jazz and Show Choir music is performed at school and community concerts and events. Students audition for the MMEA District Choir, Honor Choir, Festival and All-State Festival.

Combined High School Concert Choir

No audition is necessary to be part of this combined CHS/SQHS choir, which is a concert choir during the school day. Two concerts are performed—December and spring. Music includes folk, musical theatre, popular, gospel and classical repertoire. Students study performing skills, musicianship and vocal techniques.

Quincy High's Senior Prom Committee works from June of their junior year all the way through May of their senior year on the amazing night that is prom. They choose the location of the prom, the DJ, food, ticket prices and fundraising, and keep track of chaperones.

Docents

Each year approximately 20 students from both Quincy and North Quincy High School receive special training from the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston. These students spend four to five days in the museum over the course of several months. Therefore they become familiar with museum and specifically prepare to talk about specific artists and/or pieces of art.

Row 2: Brittney Wa'Mata Vaupier, Kelly Diller, Nicole Ryan, Victor Montserrat, Cassie Nguyen
Row 3: Mr. Cusack, Elliott Wolf Polanco, Alex Weichselbaum, Makena Schellman, Peter Cusack, Jack Kondonda

The Philosophy Club meets weekly to discuss the nature of existence, knowledge, and ethics in a semi-organized and always rational manner. The club provides a venue for interested (and interesting) students and faculty to get together and express their views on a range of topics. Each week the club investigates a new issue, talks about specific philosophies, or learns about a philosophical school of thought. Interest aside, there is no pre-requisite to join.

Fashion Club

Fashion Club is an avenue for students to workshop ideas and to create new, interesting concepts for clothing and accessories. The Fashion Club gives student designers opportunities to showcase their creations at the student produced, Annual QHS Fashion Show every April. We hope to act as a stepping-stone for our members, by giving them the chance to set them on a path to an exciting career in the fashion industry.

QHS works with the YMCA for Youth and Government. This group of elite kids participate year-round in a mock government that travels from Boston colleges to Springfield institutions, and results in a four day conference at the state house - all with hundreds of kids from around the state that share the same interests as them. They meet Thursday nights at the Y to discuss current events and debate things like Congressional bills. Get your ties out, your opinions ready, and your bills pressed – because in YAG, we don't play around.

SkillsUSA is a national organization that has more than 375,000 students and instructors in more than 13,000 high schools, technical centers, and two-year colleges. SkillsUSA ensures every student has the opportunity to achieve his or her career goals. Whether you're a high school student or a professional, SkillsUSA can help you succeed. Our members benefit from high-quality, industry-driven education and training. SkillsUSA members are committed to excellence, good character, and safety. By participating in contests, students gain confidence, develop teamwork skills, and demonstrate their knowledge and skills to potential employers. Members also gain access to scholarships and internships. SkillsUSA members are committed to community service. Our members help their communities in many ways, including volunteering their time to help the elderly, the homeless, and the physically challenged. SkillsUSA members also participate in competitions on the regional, state, and national levels to further enhance their skills by challenging their own abilities against others. At SkillsUSA we will not only train our members but work with them to find employment in the industry and to be lifelong learners. We want to help develop essential job skills, such as effective communication and management, to ensure workplace safety, productivity, and more. Students gain confidence to be successful in their chosen careers.

Boys Hockey

The varsity hockey team entered the season this year with a new coach, Tim Lewis. Lewis is a '98 graduate of Quincy High and has been playing hockey for 26 years. The team's record this season is 3-8-5. Lewis says, "We would have preferred more wins. However, we have been competitive in every game and there has been drastic improvement on an individual base." Lewis knew that there were going to be serious challenges that the team would face this season, including depth, varsity experience, and the fact the team had to get used to the new style of coaching. Although, if you've been to a game, it's impossible to miss the competitive spirit and team chemistry.

Unique QHS

What makes Quincy High unique? From the first minute you walk in, there is something about it that sets it apart from all the other 300+ schools in Massachusetts. First of all we have a new school. It is very modern and technologically up to date. The new QHS is very spacious and luminous therefore keeping the students awake and focused. The way the building is designed helps make us feel more comfortable as opposed to the old school where we felt trapped and tortured. As you walk through the school you can see the 78 flags of the 78 nations that are represented at QHS. Many schools in Massachusetts lack diversity. They don't experience all the cultures that we do. We even have a cultural fair that displays the many nations. This interaction between the students is very important because they learn how to deal with many different types of people. Last but not least there are the Career and Technical Education Programs. Students are enrolled in many programs from technical careers to patient care and engineering. In total there are 16 programs that are guiding students toward a brighter future. For example, Ms. McGinnity's Design and Visual Communication program uses the latest technology to build this great yearbook from scratch. These students in these programs know what they want to do for the rest of their lives because of our great Career and Technical Education Programs.

Career and Technical Education: Student Of The Year

Kevin Ung, son of Mai Ha of Quincy, is a fourth year Project Lead the Way Engineering student at Quincy High School.

Kevin is an Advanced Placement student in the top 10% of his senior class and is the top Engineering student, with a 95% average. He is the Treasurer of Student Council, a member of the National Honor Society, and the Vice President of Operation Day's Work. He is a Varsity player and Captain for the Track Team – both winter and spring, and placed fifth in the Patriot League for Spring track. He also acts as the School Mascot at rallies and sporting events.

Kevin is an integral part of the Quincy Public Schools Robotics Team, receiving recognition for Student Leadership, Pit Crew Performance, and Web Design.

In our new state-of-the-art high school, Kevin volunteers his time to assist teachers and other students with the technical equipment throughout the building.

In the words of his Engineering teacher, Paul Tully, who nominated Kevin for this award, "And last but not least, he is just about as nice a kid as I have ever met; this amazing young man is truly a credit to his upbringing, and I have no doubt that his mother is as proud of him as I am."

Career and Technical Education

Plumbing Tech

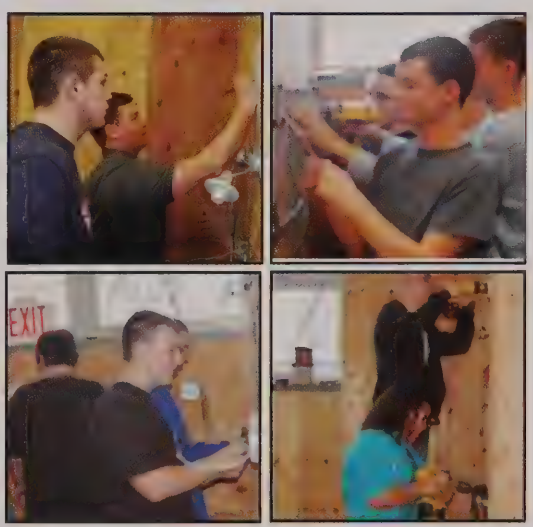
The students that take Plumbing Tech do the jobs that you will never want to do, but they love every minute of it. They know that with the skills they are learning, they will be able to possibly go right out into the field after graduation or go to college. It comes with the satisfaction of knowing that they will never need to pay a stranger to fix their own toilet.

Carpentry Tech

At Quincy High School kids learn everything there is to know about the building and constructing process. Carpenters learn to cut and install wood, metal, plastic, and fiberglass. Students who take the program throughout high school end up going into Colleges, trade schools or go straight into work. One day you will probably be living in a home that one of the carpentry kids from Quincy High created.

Electrical Tech

To think that humans once lived without electricity is tough. The Electrical Tech students of Quincy High School devote much of their time to their respective projects, from hooking up light fixtures to complex wiring. Once they graduate, they have the satisfaction of knowing that the career field they chose is one that will never disappear from this world.



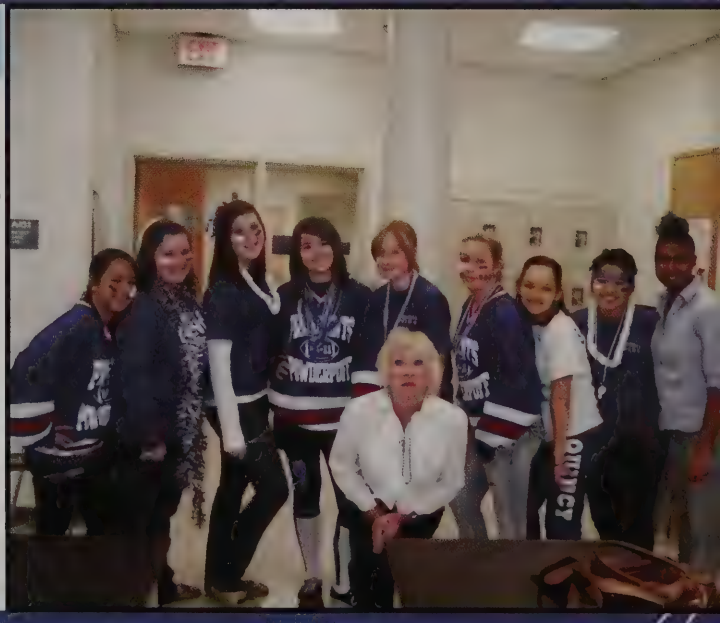
Information Technology

Information Technology students learn everything there is to learn from computers to phones to everything on the internet! Taking the program at Quincy High, students obtain enough knowledge to pass the A+ Certification Exam. After graduation, students often times go into a trade for IT, because the teachers at QHS make it fun.

Early Childhood Education

In this class, students get prepared for careers such as preschools, nurseries, or to become nannies. They carry around the well known baby dummies and learn how to deal with them for days at a time. This is not easy because those babies simulate real human babies. These students also intern at preschools and nurseries in order to get the best look at what its like to deal with babies. The babies in the future will be in good hands because of of our QHS Early Childhood and Care.

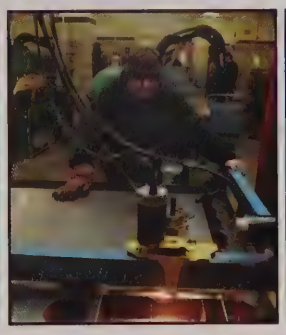
Health Care Tech



The students of Health Care Tech know very well what a life in this field will require. They are dedicated to this decision to become involved in helping their fellow humans, from simple things like a sore foot to complex issues like broken legs. The projects they do are very in-depth, requiring great care and discipline. The field of Health Care Tech is one that will always be around, despite how much times change.

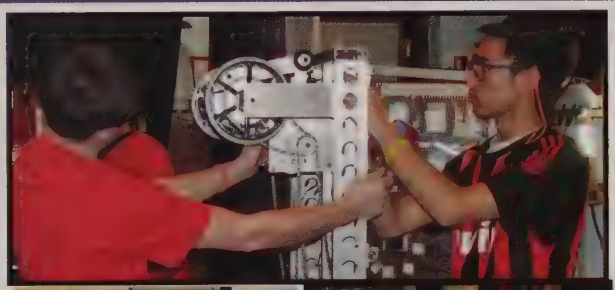
Metal Fabrication

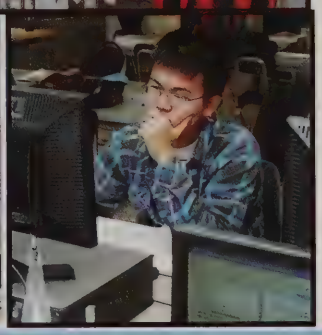
Welding is another type of art. The beauty of it lies within the person creating what they desire. At Quincy High, students learn the process of playing with metal. Whether if it's creating their own designs or an emblem for the school.



Engineering Tech

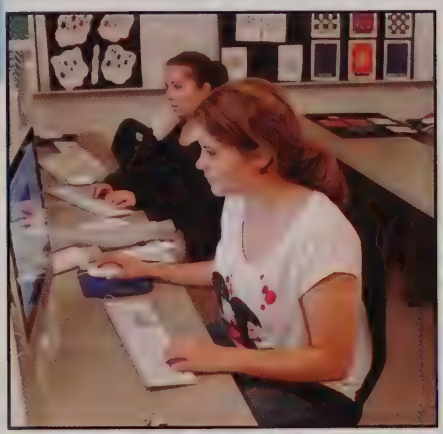
Engineers are in need all over the world. Engineering is one of the fastest growing occupations to this date. Mr. Tully teaches students to be creative, by creating blue prints and coming up with new ideas. One day those ideas could become big and change the world. Quincy High School would be remembered forever thanks to the creativity and hard work of QHS's Engineering students.

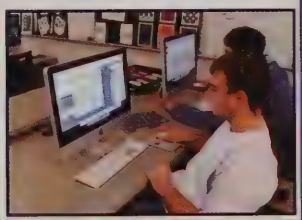


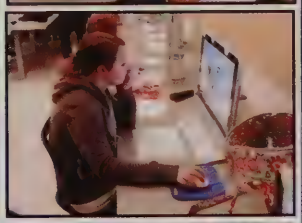


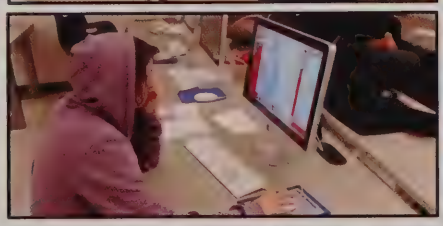
Graphic Arts

Computers are for much more than just Facebook and Tumblr. In Graphic Arts, students undertake multiple projects, adding their own flair of creativity to everything they do. The seniors have a busy schedule, working on the yearbook as well as applying all of the skills they learned throughout their high school career to a personalized website that flaunts their creativity.









Broadcasting Tech

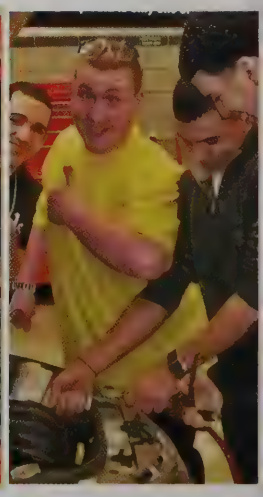
The movie making business is a tough business and so is Broadcating Technology. It is more than just the morning announcements. They work from sopohmore year through senior year doing many projects that will prepare them for the movie making business.Mr. Green and his students make scripts, learn how to use a camera and what it's made of, and help willing students voice their opinions on TV.

Fashion Design

Even without any prior experience, those who join Fashion Design will learn all the fundamentals and skills needed to make a fruitful career in the fashion industry. Various projects help students develop the skills they need to succeed. The high point of the year for these students is the Fashion Show, at which their creations are displayed on model volunteers.

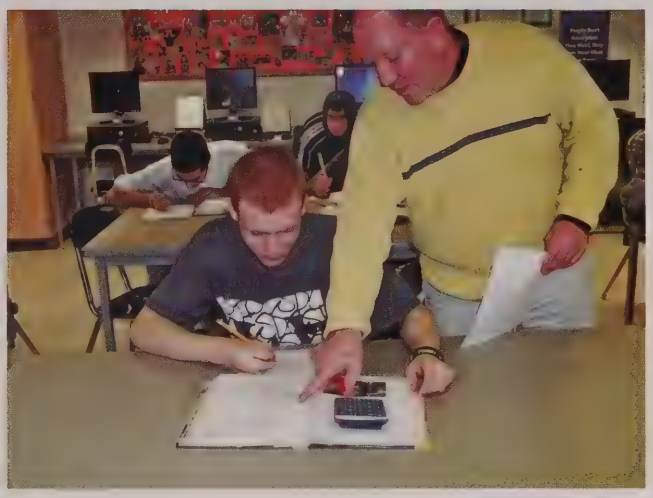
Automotive Tech

Despite lackluster beginnings involving textbooks and safety tests, the students of automotive soon discover that they can make quite the living in this career field. By the time senior year comes around, the students' skills are polished and begin live work, fixing up cars that paying customers entrust them with. The students can perform a number of tasks, from fixing a simple bumper to alignment.



Business Tech

Leaving Quincy High's business programs, students already know how to create their own business. They also know how to work within the business cycle - from accounting, to finances, to advertising, to creating their own business. Student's that take business programs end up with a happier budget for the rest of their life.



Protective Services

The crime rate in Quincy isn't so bad. But in other places it's ridiculous! Students in protective services learn and understand the law. These kids will be Quincy High's super heroes. After graduation, some students may become cops, EMTs or even lawyers. Fighting crime one day at a time.

Culinary Arts

Food is one of the most important things to life. In the Culinary program at Quincy High, the students learn about everything there is about food. The kids also learn how to be creative with the food they are making for themself or serving for customers in and outside Quincy High's Cafe.

SPRING EDITION

OUT LIKE A LAMB At the end of March and start of April, the halls of Quincy High were filled with Snookis, Cheetas, Batmans, Steve Urkel look-alikes, and blue and white. Why? Because it was Spirit Week! The students and teachers ended the third term on a fun and festive note, putting their creative minds to work. The first day of Spirit Week was Celebrity Day, followed by Safari Day. Then came Superhero Day and Nerd Day. To end the awesome week, everyone showed off their school spirit while wearing the school colors: blue and white.

WEEK IN REVIEW

GOTTA CATCH 'EM ALL

Kaitlyn Mahn (below) gathered up a mere fraction of her Pokemon cards and made a belt and sash. Creativity; she has it.

SAFARI DAY

Jessica Downing (below left) and Brittany Vo (below right) found as much animal-print clothing as possible to give the appearance needed for a unique Safari Day!

IT'S TIME TO D-D-DUEL

Billy Brancaccio wielded his old-fashioned Duel Disk from Yu-Gi-Oh! on Nerd Day.

CELEBRITY DAY

Lik Hang Chan swears that he's the next Jet Li.

NERD DAY

Nico Ferragamo (below) used a helicopter beanie cap and some super nerdy glasses to nerd it up. As if the Skills USA shirt wasn't enough! (Just kidding, guys.)

BLUE AND WHITE

SUPERHERO DAY

Pablo Machado (above) dons his medieval gear to become the superhero of ancient times: King Arthur!

HOLY SMOKES

NANANANANANAN-ANANANANANAN-ANANANA BATMAN! Brendan Myers (above) really went all out for Superhero Day!

FASHION OF THE DAY

Black tops, long necklaces, faded jeans, and boots were big.

Graphic Tees, Skinny jeans, Gauges, Plaid shirts, and who could forget those wacky Silly Bandz? Today's fashion played a big part in our lives. When we look back, our outfits will probably be completely different. Dark skinny jeans, Uggs in the winter, flats in the summer, pencil skirts, soft makeup, V-necks, and shirts with abstract designs on them were big for girls in our graduating class. Boys usually wore sports or brand name shirts, dark blue faded jeans, and walked in Air Max, Converse, or Adidas. Charlotte Russe, American Eagle, Hollister, Wet Seal, Forever 21, Juicy Couture, Delia's, and Urban Outfitters were just a few of the stores we would shop from, creating our own unique look.

Christina Cahill and Jessika Toto

Silly Bandz came in all shapes, colors, and sizes.

Boys Lacrosse

The Quincy High Boys Lacrosse team is the most hardworking team in the league. Game in and game out they preform to the best of their abilities. This year they have been unfortunate to have only two seniors on the team. Ryan Boyle and Nick Daniels lead the team by example on and off the field. Senior Captain Nick Daniels is very hard working and talented. He cradles the ball down the field so gallantly. He has played Lacrosse his whole high school career. Ryan Boyle, the goalkeeper for Quincy High is very intimidating and he makes many crucial saves in games. He puts his body on the line every game. His motto is there is no "I in team." We are looking forward to next years team.

Tennis

Tennis is more than just a racket and a ball, it's the emotion unraveled in every shot. Win or lose, perfect shots or a bad day, the real lesson learned from these hardships is that you got here through hard work and perserverance. Tennis is about respect and patience. You work together as a team to beat the competition. The coach for the boys team is, English teacher, Mr. Columb and the coach for the girls team it is, History teacher, Mrs. Matthews.

Sailing

The North Quincy and Quincy combined Sailing Team has had a wonderful season this year. The team has had many new additions and returning faces. The captain Nicole Valday brought great experience to the team.

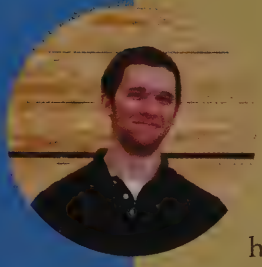
Boys Volleyball



This volleyball season has been one to remember to say the least. Last year was a relatively unsuccessful season but this year we had several returning players including senior captain David Nahn. We started the season with a dramatic win over North and have climbed our way to the .500 mark this year and thus making the tournament. Although we may be somewhere in the top ten for most yellow cards, and we may have some unorthodox cheering lead by Dan Nguyen, we have come together as a talented team. We have "swagged" our way through every gym and practically taught every team "how to dougie." This year's tournament bound team is looking to claim the first QHS victory in any tournament game in the history of the program. The team is led by senior captain David Nhan and junior captains Zerick Fadairo and Tim McNally who have all shown great effort, leadership, and determination in making this team as successful as it has been

Softball

Roger Baccheri is still new when it comes to coaching the girls softball team. However, you would not know that unless you were told. Coach Baccheri's first year was extremely successful and will be welcoming more. The girls of the softball team claim that Baccheri has changed softball for them, making it more fun and relaxed while still playing hard.

High school MUSICAL

The Quincy High Drama club was elated to move into the brand new Llyod Hill Performing Arts Center. They opened their season with Larry Shue's The Foreigner, a hilarious farce. They closed the season with Disney's High School Musical. High School Musical is the story of the captain of the basketball team getting casted as the lead in the school play. The show involved over fifty QHS students who were performers, technicians, stage managers, and designers. The drama club would like to thank our seniors Peter Palmatier, Gerald McCarthy, and Dan Hall for their dedication and hard work.

QUINCY HIGH FASHION SHOW

Every spring, the students of Fashion have a chance to show off their creations. Preparing for the show begins the first day of school, every student immediately starts working on their designs. Behind the fashion show, there are many committees that produce the show. Every committee has a different job - teaching the models how to strut their stuff, dressing up the outfits with accessories, lighting, staging, advertising, and so much more. Above it all, are the fashion majors. Each major is the head of a committee and it is their job to make sure everything runs smoothly.

This year, there are about 40 designers. Clothing 1 students made coats, Clothing 2 students made eco-friendly designs, and the Fashion Majors created their own designs as well as participating in the eco-friendly designs. Some of the eco-friendly ideas were dresses made from skittle bags, m&m bags, chip bags, capri suns, duct tape, and many more.

cultural fair 2011

Twenty-two nations gathered together at Quincy High's annual Cultural Fair to celebrate various aspects of the many different cultures that can be found in our world. Each nation was given a table to decorate as they saw fit, displaying artwork, food, and other knick knacks. The award for the most spirited table went to the Middle East. Some of the nations in attendance even put on small performances. The Vietnam table had fun with their bamboo dance. Saudi Arabia showed off their belly dancing moves, and the boisterous cheering and chanting from Brazil was a great way to set the celebratory mood; because that is what the Cultural Fair is, a celebration of the many nationalities that we interact with on a daily basis.

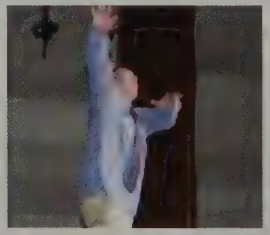
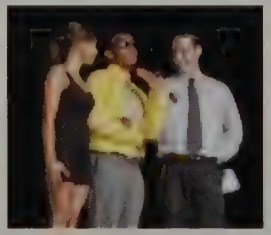
Quincy High proudly presents

MR. QHS 2011

After the success of last year's Mr. Quincy High, the senior class decided we would try it again. This time it wasn't going to be a prom fundraiser, but just for fun. Admittance to the event was free for all seniors. Participants Calvin Nguyen, Dan Nguyen, Ronn Newsome, Thomas Paluzzi, Kyle Madden, and Ryan Schultz were all confident that they embodied what Quincy High really stood for. They hoped that their swimwear, talents, and formal wear would outshine the rest. In the first round, the boys all showed off how they cool off in the summer with their swim trunks, floaties, and lifeguard jackets. For their talents, Calvin karate chopped his way into the judges' hearts, Dan sang his favorite Taylor Swift song, Ronn impressed the judges with a dance, Thomas and Kyle sang a bro-tastic duet of "You've got a Friend in Me", and Ryan showed off his back flipping skills. Then the boys showed the judges and the class how they clean up. Each came out dressed in their best clothes, but the looks wouldn't be complete without their beautiful escorts Jessika Toto, Veronica Andrade, Diamela Kodra, Lindsey Wallace, and Waleska Brown. The judges had a tough decision to make, and in the end it was Ronn Newsome who came out on top.





LOOK WHO'S

"Even though I don't believe the right winner was chosen it was a really great time."

Ryan Schultz

"I definitely think I should have won! I thought my swimwear formal wear and talent was better then the rest!"

Kyle Madden

"Mr. QHS takes a lot of courage to get up on stage in front of your graduating class. I've looked forward to Mr. QHS since last year. It was great to watch and even better to participate in!"

Calvin Nguyen

"Even though I didn't win, I had a great time singing with Kyle, and it was a great time with my friends and a good show for my class."

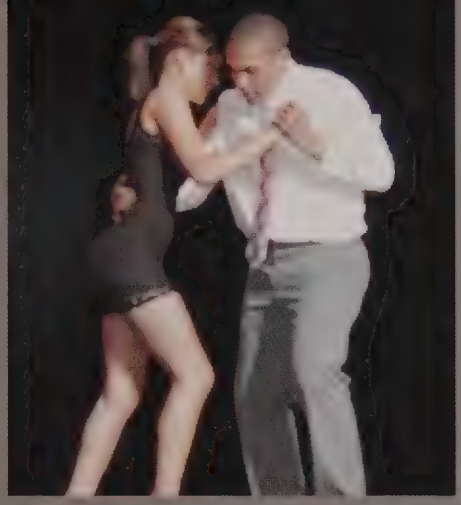
Thomas Paluzzi

"Mr. QHS was a great experience. I got to have fun and make people laugh. It's a great tradition and I wish I could do it again. Oh and 2nd place isn't so bad!"

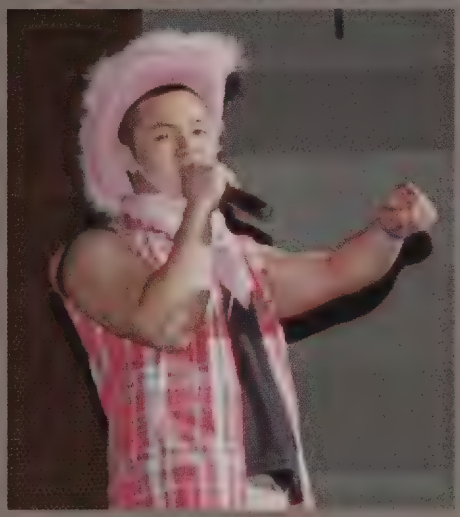
Danny Nguyen

"Becoming Mr. QHS is an honor especially for only being here for two years, I did cherish the moment but I know there is more to gain becoming a man and I would like to thank QHS for giving me a starting place to accomplish my dreams."

Ronn Newsome

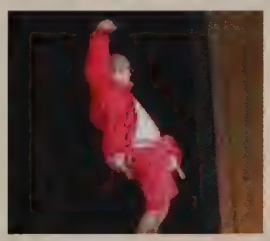


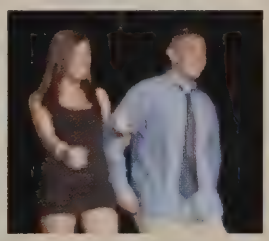
Lifeguard and Dancer Ronn Newsome shows off his dancing skills with a Mexican ballroom dance.



Dan Nguyen shows off his singing talents with a rendition of his favorite Taylor Swift song.

Thomas Paluzzi and Kyle Madden sing a duet of "You've Got a Friend in Me" and become an instant crowd favorite.





Laura Marstjepovic

A+ Students

Gerald McCathy, the unsung hero of Quincy High School

Gerald McCarthy is a kind hearted person who happened to be born blind. He is an actor, musician, and a school leader. He had many obstacles to over come here at QHS, for example, he had to learn how to walk from the old Quincy High into the new School, when it was being rebuilt. Every year since Gerald has started High School he has had to learn his ways through the halls all over again. Gerald has stayed before and after school learning and memorizing the new hall ways just so he can get around on an everyday bases. The rest of us think the new building might have been confusing at first, but think about having to navigate the halls in the dark. He makes other students rethink life. He can succeed in school with a disability that is uncomprehendable. To hear everything but not see anyone must be tough, however Gerald's smile always lights the room. His achievements speak for themselves. It's amazing, what this kid can do. He's the definition of an A+ Student and thats why he is so special! Great job Gerald! And good luck in you future endeavors. Speical thanks to Steve Chung and Laura Marstjepovic for helping Gerald.

Liz Pyle and Calvin Nguyen looked stunning in pink as they took a picture together.

On May 20th, nearly every senior girl and even a few of the guys were dismissed from school early so that they could ready themselves for one of the most memorable nights of their lives: Senior Prom. Boasting a luau theme, our prom was held at the Quincy Mariott and included a complementary dinner consisting of vegetables, pasta, chicken, bread, potatoes, and other odds and ends. Dessert was a choice of vanilla or chocolate ice cream (or both!) with a plethora of toppings to choose from. Bright floral prints seemed to be one of the most popular themes among the dresses. The DJs played the latest hits for us to dance to, such as Everything Tonight by Ne-yo, Show Goes On by Lupe Fiasco, and We No Speak Americano by Yolanda Be Cool. At the end of the night, nearly everyone migrated to 1 Battery March Park to celebrate Senior Night Out and enjoy the free attractions such as tarot card reading, poker, video games, and free food. Prizes were given to a lucky few, ranging from gift cards to an Apple iPad. By the time five o'clock in the morning came around, it was obvious that the price of $50/person for a prom ticket and the utter exhaustion from the night's festivities were completely worth it. We truly ended our senior year on a high note.

The Valedictorian Speech

by Vinny Wang

The world is flat and it has been flat since the collapse of the Berlin Wall. The statement "the world is flat" is a paradox because we all know that the world is round. This fact was discovered centuries ago. The idea that the world is flat was first introduced to me during the summer of my junior year, when I read the book "The World is Flat," by Thomas L. Friedman. In this novel, Friedman uses the image of a flattened world to symbolize the extensive globalization of the world in the last few decades.

There are 10 forces that "flattened" the world and the first of them was the collapse of the Berlin Wall according to the book. The term "flattened world" refers to a widely connected world and each nation is bridged together by technology.

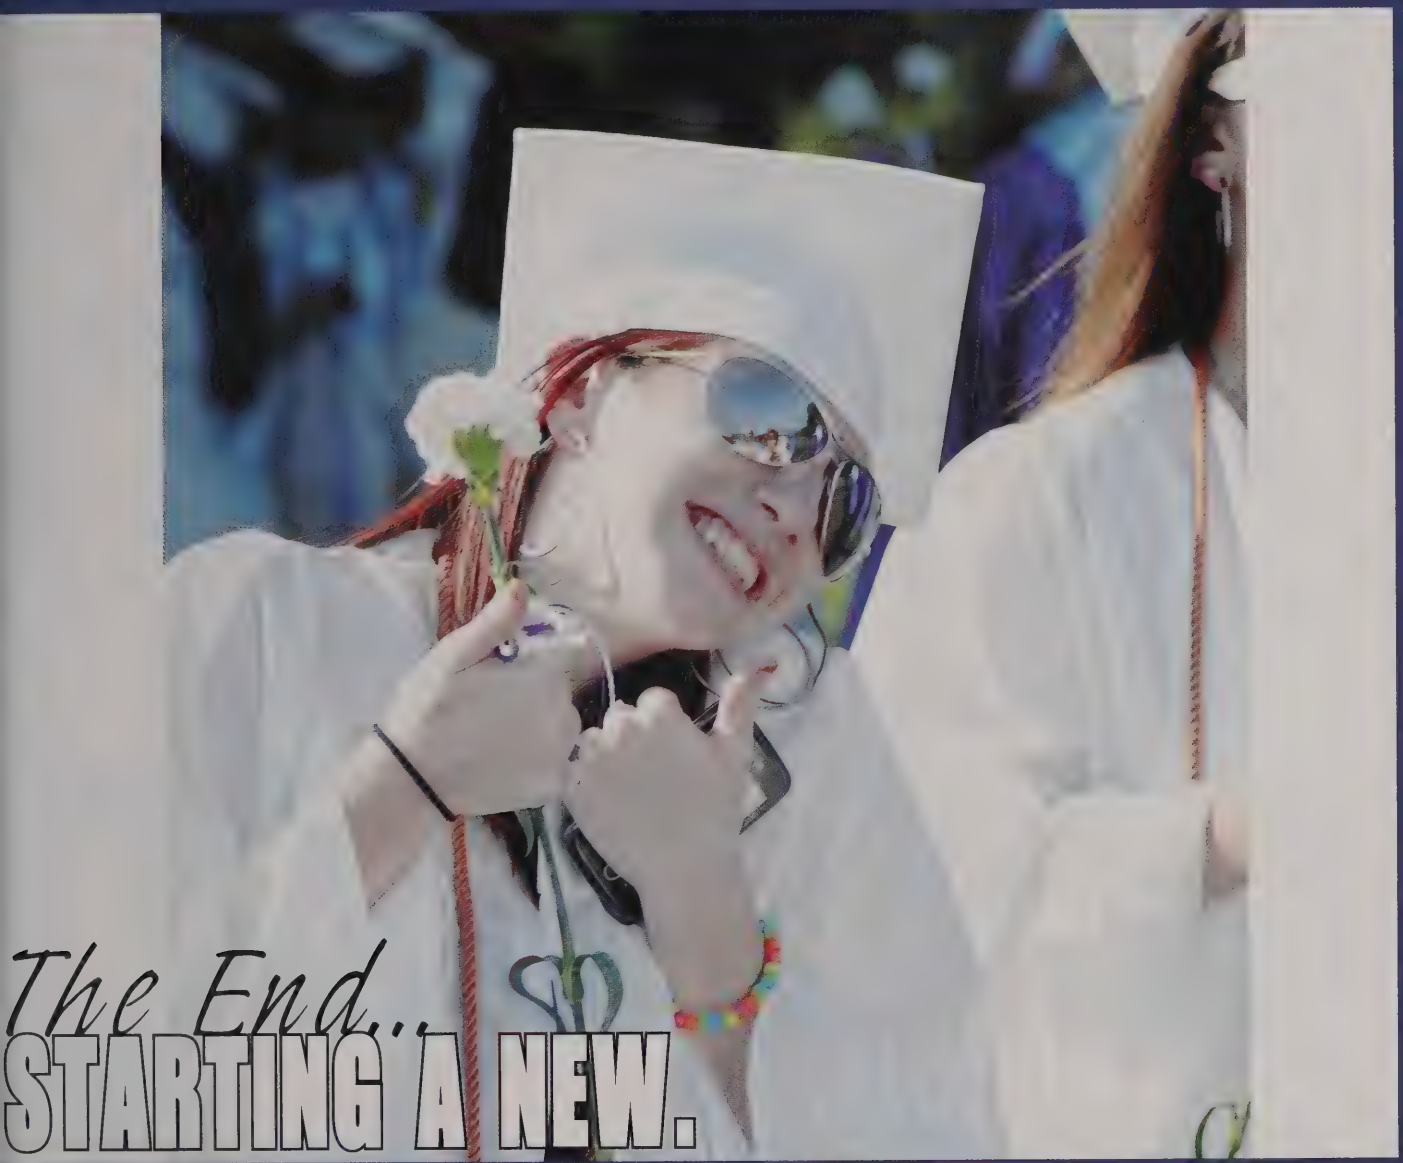
The point I want to reference from this book is that in order to survive in the demanding world we live in today, you must be aware of your surroundings and be competitive.

The world is growing more competitive each and every day. Job opportunities are becoming more difficult to find. College acceptance rates are steadily declining. Foreign markets are rapidly expanding.

Once we graduate from high school, we are all entering the competitive world. In this competitive world, we are no longer competing against each other in terms of grade point average and class rank; we are now competing with intelligent individuals all over the world who want to attend America's top universities and colleges and chase the American Dream.

In this competitive world, there will be no teachers that will beg for late assignments in order to help you pass for the term. Professors are paid to teach the curriculum; not to help unmotivated students pass. In this competitive world, there will be no second chances given to you by your dean. Consequences linger behind every mistake made.

We all have the potential to compete and succeed in this competitive world, but to truly compete; you must take the initiative and make the effort to compete. With the overwhelming support from the Quincy High School staff, I am able to compete in this flat world.



The End...
STARTING A NEW.

Farewell

See you in five years.

Although the end of our senior year has been bittersweet, we can't forget about all the good times. The hard work, that we all put in to get to this exact point should always be remembered. High school was just a building block to our lives.Get ready for the next step! Until we meet next time.We wish you all the best at whatever you choose to pursue.
